Whiskey Glossary, By the Pour, Flights and Pairings:

Whiskey Key Terms:

Bourbon: a whiskey from Kentucky, distilled from a fermented mash of 51 percent corn grain and warehoused in charred new oak barrels for two years minimum

Mash Bill: Mash Bill is the grain recipe used to make whiskey

Single Barrel: Each bottle originates from an individual aging barrel

Small Batch: Each Bottle mixes the contents of a moderately small number of selected barrels.

Straight Bourbon: Straight Bourbon's mash bill must be at least 51 percent corn. Bourbon, by law, must be aged in a brand-new, charred white oak barrel and aged a minimum of 4 years to be called straight bourbon whiskey.

Cask Strength: abv strength that is used for a whiskey during its storage in a Cask for maturation typically around 60-65%

Wheat Bourbons: Examples of High wheat bourbons, Makers, Larceny and W. L Weller have a minimum of around 20% wheat in the mash bill.

Straight Rye: Rye Whiskey's mash bill must be at least 51% Rye. Rye Whiskey, by law, must be aged in a brand-new, charred white oak barrels

Corn Whiskey: Must Be a Minimum of 80% Corn in Mash Bill and Be aged in uncharred or used oak barrels.

Scotch Whisky: Malt Whisky or Grain Made in Scotland

Irish Whiskey: Whiskey made on the island of Ireland and made from malted barley and other cereal grains

Rye Bourbons: High Rye Bourbon contains around 20% Rye in their Mash Bill. This gives the bourbon a nice spicy kick that complements the sweetness of the 51% corn, without the peppery zing that Rye Whiskey can offer. Examples of High Rye Bourbons, Bulleit cask strength bourbon, Four Roses single barrel, Basil Hayden's bourbon and Old Granddad 114.

Solera-Aged: Solera aging involves filling a series of casks at different intervals over a long period of time. As Whiskey from the oldest cask is emptied and bottled, the cask is re-filled with an equivalent amount of whiskey from the second oldest cask in the solera. This cascading effect continues until the youngest cask in the solera is filled with new whiskey. As a result, no cask is ever fully emptied.

Bottled in Bond (BIB): Bottled in Bond or Bonded Whiskey's follow these requirements: the liquor must be the product of one distillation season, one distiller at one distillery, It must have been aged in a federally bonded warehouse, under U.S. government supervision for at least four years and bottled at 100 proof.

Angel's Share: The portion of the Bourbon that is lost to evaporation

Devil's Share: Distilled Spirit's volume that is immersed into the wooden barrel

Rack house: The Building in which whiskey is aged.

Double Oaked: A Pioneering method to twice-barreled bourbon creates the rich and colorful flavor

Rock N' Rye: A bottled liqueur or mixed cocktail collected of rye whiskey and rock candy

American Single Malt Whiskey: Made from 100% malted barley, one distillery, made in USA, distilled at no more than 160 proof or 80%
